

NEW OPPORTUNITY

Free training to become a Credentialed Eating Disorder Clinician

We are pleased to share that ANZAED has an exciting new opportunity to support more clinicians to become credentialed.

About the opportunity

If you're a mental health professional or dietitian wanting to enter the Australian eating disorder workforce, you can now apply for the ANZAED Eating Disorder Credential and receive free self-paced, online Introductory and Treatment Provision training to support you in becoming credentialed.

As a dietitian, you are eligible to undertake InsideOut's Community Training for Dietitians – the Essentials, which has been approved by NEDC as meeting both the Introductory and Treatment Provision criteria for the Credential.

As a mental health professional, you can access Introductory training through NEDC and Treatment Provision Training in Enhanced Cognitive-Behaviour Therapy for Eating Disorders (CBT-E) through CREDO.

To be eligible you must meet the below criteria:

- Minimum 2 years' clinical experience (this does not need to be in the field of eating disorders)
- Commitment to ongoing requirements including; 6 hours per year of supervision and 15 hours per year of continuing professional development (CPD) relevant to eating disorders.

This free training is funded for a short time only with limited spots available. If you are interested, we encourage you to apply as soon as possible.

To apply, you simply need to complete an online form and pay the Application and Annual Credential Fee of $250 (+GST) which will waive the cost of your Introductory and Treatment Provision training PLUS include credentialing until 30 June 2024. Visit:

<https://connected.anzaed.org.au/becomingcredentialed/>

About the Credential

To date, over 1200 mental health professionals and dietitians have become credentialed. As well as providing formal recognition of your skills, experience and training in eating disorders, obtaining the Credential enables you to build a profile on the connect.ed online directory so that people experiencing eating disorders and referring professionals can easily find and connect with your service. Once credentialed, you will receive a digital badge and be able to use the post-nominal CEDC.

If you have any questions about this new opportunity, please contact us at connected@anzaed.org.au.